

Green Horizons Science & Innovation Park

Green Horizons Science and Innovation Park will be a leading European centre for innovation in mobility related industries. It aims to be the first science and innovation park designed from the ground up to be carbon negative, delivering an outstanding, truly sustainable environment for innovative businesses to develop new solutions in the sector.

Luton has a rich history in mobility – including motoring, aviation and aerospace – and is a market leader in precision engineering and manufacturing. Green Horizons' primary focus will be supporting businesses in their scale-up phase, providing a mix of accommodation and support services to accelerate growth and transform ideas into fully realised products and services.

Green Horizons is an incredible location for business, positioned at the heart of the so-called 'Golden Triangle' – the region that has attracted the most inward investment in Europe and become a global centre for a range of expanding high-tech industries.

From Luton, central London can be reached in just 30 minutes by train, the UK motorway network is easily accessible via the M1, and Europe is on your doorstep from the expanding airport with over 100 destinations daily.

Currently at masterplanning stage, Green Horizons is aimed at investors and occupiers that want to be part of market-leading sustainable development that makes a positive multi-generational impact on the local community.

A catalyst for transformational growth, Green Horizons will create thousands of jobs in Luton and the wider region, many of them highly skilled.

Green Horizons is another exciting development in Luton's wider transformation: the Town Centre Masterplan, the new football stadium, the potential airport expansion and the recent opening of the Luton DART are already having an impact, making Luton an exciting place to live, work and invest.
